

Orange Piano to Make Music Video History in Yokohama

Daredevil Pianist Brings his Record-Breaking World Tour to 296m High Yokohama Landmark Tower

Renowned for playing his orange piano at unusual outdoor locations, German pianist Stefan Aaron and will recreate his magic atop the helipad of the 296m high Landmark Tower. The city of Yokohama will witness the world premiere of his latest track, 'The Yokohama Song', a peppy number with a catchy tune that will be shot in the talented musician's trademark style. Stefan has collaborated with acclaimed local songwriter and musician Masahiro specifically for this event as a part of his ongoing Orange Piano Tour.

The Yokohama Landmark Tower is Stefan's fifth stop after his performances on the summit of the Alphubel Mountain in Saas-Fee, Switzerland; the Juyongguan pass on the Great Wall of China; the Preikestolen in Norway and on a flying carpet at the Munich Airport.

Stefan is no stranger to creating music video history and has literally scaled new heights, but what makes this event truly spectacular and magnificent is that he has received exclusive filming permission to shoot his music video at this skyscraper, an impressive eye-catcher at Yokohama's coastline. Stefan's vocals and live performance on his signature orange piano, gifted musician Masahiro's guitar accompaniment and dancers will set the stage to create this breathtaking spectacle. "I'm really excited about the world premiere of 'The Yokohama Song' in Japan. Every location I perform in brings its own energy and I also get an opportunity to collaborate with amazing musicians," said Aaron.

Stefan's amazing musical journey has been beautifully captured in this trailer. More information about Stefan Aaron and his unique Orange Piano Tour is available at <http://orange-piano-tour.com>

Enjoy the music and the soon-to-be-released stunning heli-shoot video of 'The Yokohama Song' on the helipad of the Yokohama Landmark Tower.
